WIFE INQUIRED ABOUT DIVORCE IMMEDIATELY.

The Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune says:

Although reluctant to tell his story, Charles Mains, 611 College street, who was summoned to court after a hearing of the divorce petition brought against him by Alma Mains, 210 West Eighth street, testified that thirty minutes after they were married his wife asked him the question: "I wonder when we'll get our divorce?"

Mains told Judge C. W. Hoffman when summoned to give his version of their domestic difficulties that he would rather not testify, preferring to let his wife have a divorce decree. Judge Hoffman instructed him, however, to tell his story and then agreed with him that a divorce should be granted. The couple were married at Maysville, Ky.

San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 4. — "The Invisible Empire" faced a challenge today from Texas authorities.

Following a riot at Lorena Saturday wherein several men were wounded arraignment of masked activities by Judge Hamilton in charging an Austin grand jury Monday, Chief of Police Mussey and Sheriff Tobin of San Antonio met rumors of a Ku Klux Klan parade here with the ultimatum that it cannot be held.

GIANTS SMALL FAVORITES

IN NEW YORK BETTING.

New York, Oct. 4. — An eager-eyed army of 5,000 baseball fans swooped down on base Broadway today.

From Podunk to Walla Walla, they came to lounge in the plush cushions of Broadway hotels and chew the sport rag until the first world series game tomorrow.

The hotels had made no preparations for the deluge. They had figured that this was a New York world series and the rest of the country wasn't in on it.

There was little betting in evidence. The Giants were considered favorites in most of the wagers at short odds. Most of the bets were at 6, 7 and 8 to 6.
